Nurturing Minds Board Development

The Board has now expanded to 14 board members and 5 advisors, bringing in new skills and expertise that will support the continued growth of the organization. Committees dealing with all of the various interests of Nurturing Minds have been established with particular attention to the Student Sponsorship Program, supporting self-sustainability through the introduction of businesses at the school, expanding the Service Learning Program and developing a travel program.

The Nurturing Minds - SEGA Partnership

Development of a strong Tanzanian-based organization enables maximum effectiveness for project implementation; ensures relevance of project activities within the local context; enhances stewardship and protection of project financial assets; and allows for organizational sustainability of the running of the Segal Girls School over the long-term.

From the Founder and Board Chair

Dear Nurturing Minds Supporters:

Hold out your arms....the girls at Sega Girls School would like to hug you for helping us make 2010 our best year yet!

On December 3, Tom Wales (NM Board Member) and I joined the procession for the Sega Girls School 'moving up ceremony' or Graduation. What did I see? Our brand new dining hall, beautifully decorated, the students and their parents, beaming with pride as well as Polly and the SEGA Board Members at the dais. I saw our volunteers Camilla, Elena and Fran crying as they danced with their girls. We marveled at how our guest of honor, the District Commissioner, whipped the girls into a frenzy with her 'girl power' speech. It was a magical experience for everyone.

And 2010 truly has been a year to celebrate. This year we...

transitioned from being a non-formal education program operating in a borrowed classroom, to a secondary school in our own buildings; exceeded our fundraising goals, receiving 25% more donations over 2009, and raising a total of $434,000; and received a matching grant commitment for construction in 2011 of $400,000 from USAID!

.....and this is only the beginning... please read about more highlights of 2010:

- 58 At-Risk Girls Educated: The school served 30 day students in 7th grade and 28 8th grade boarding students this year in our new dorm. We are adding 30 new students each year until the school reaches a capacity of 200 girls from grades 7 through 13.
- Above-Average Performance: Once again our students showed their determination, far exceeding national performance averages on the 7th grade exam marking the end of primary school (80% passing, as compared with 50% nationally).
- New Buildings: We constructed a dining hall, or 'banda', that can accommodate 200 girls and a new classroom building with 2 classrooms and a small computer lab.
- Solar-Run Computer Lab: We received 7 new low-energy computers from Forgirlsake in time to equip our new computer lab. Our new classroom building and computer lab run beautifully on the solar panels and batteries donated in 2009 by Suntech and Deka Batteries.
- Business Planning: Towards our goal to become financially self-sufficient by adding local businesses to our campus, we researched and raised start-up capital for our first business—a poultry farm. The US Embassy awarded us $25,000 at the end of the year to start-up this business in 2011.
- Volunteers Adding Value at the School: While we bid a sad farewell in August to Sandra, our volunteer from Holland, who had been with us for a year, we welcomed Fran from Australia in October, who will be with us for 2 years. We also had 2 volunteers, Camilla Shearman and Elena Hemler who stayed with us for 4 months as part of their college gap year. They turned out to be a wonderful addition to the school.

In 2008 we promised a group of 30 out-of-school girls in Morogoro, Tanzania that we would help get them back to school, and that if all went well, we would continue supporting them through the remaining years of high school. This was a big promise, but your support has made it possible to fulfill. Your continued generosity, even in these tough financial times, has enabled us to thrive.

We hope you enjoy reading about how your resources have been put to work to alleviate poverty and create a sustainable future for girls in Tanzania.

Asante sana,
Clarke Flynn, Board Chair
Polly Dolan, Founder

Project Milestones

- ~ 23 acres of land in Morogoro Tanzania, future site of the Sega Girls School was purchased.

- ~ The Nurturing Minds Website was launched and the first online donation received.
 - ~ An additional 7 acres of land was donated by a Tanzanian family and the 99 year lease on the initial 23 acres in Morogoro, Tanzania was acquired.
 - ~ The Nurturing Minds board was formed and the first meeting held.
 - ~ Construction of the foundation for the first building was completed.
 - ~ The Sega Girls School Day Program for 30 girls was opened in a borrowed classroom in July.
 - ~ The first fundraising events were held in California, Colorado and Massachusetts.

2009

- ~ The board expanded to 12 Members and the first NM Advisors were recruited.
- ~ We drilled and found water on the Sega School campus.
- ~ The Student Sponsorship program was initiated.
- ~ The construction of the Preliminary Building was completed.
- ~ NM Regional Chapters were developed and Fundraising Parties organized.
- ~ The first volunteers arrived at the school.
- ~ Graduation of our first class of girls at the Sega Girls School.

- ~ The NM Board expanded to 14 members.
- ~ Construction of the second classroom block, using a grant from the 1830 Family Foundation, consisting of two classrooms, a store room and a computer room, to be furnished with computers purchased with a $9,000 donation from Forgirlsake, and furniture and bedding funded by the Louisville Middle School.

- ~ The US Agency for International Development/Schools and Hospitals Abroad (USAID/ASHA) granted Nurturing Minds a 2:1 matching grant on funds raised in 2011 up to $400,000. This will enable the completion of the phase II construction of classrooms and dormitories in 2011.

USAID
FROM THE AMERICAN PEOPLE

- ~ NM partnered with Aid for Africa, Unite, Jolkona, National Coalition for Girls Schools, AWE, Inc/ Early Learning Station, Foundation Source Access and Amazon.com.
- ~ A NM representative presented at the Population Council Workshop in New York City.
- ~ A 4th regional chapter, the Fairfield Country Connecticut Chapter was established, as growth and activity of the other regional chapters continued.

- ~ The first short-term and long-term service learning students helped the students improve their English, computing skills and swimming ability.
- ~ The second long term volunteer from Voluntary Service Overseas arrived for a 2 year stay. Fran will introduce the teaching of experiential learning, along with other modern teaching techniques.
- ~ US schools continued to partner with the Sega Girls School and organize fundraising events.

- ~ Sega student Laudekia Nyamanda and Headmistress Ms Salome Mkuchu were interviewed live on national radio as part of a UNICEF two week program to raise awareness of the issue of early pregnancy among girls and to advocate for them being allowed to return to school. This was in recognition of the Sega School's policy to assist girls to return to school after becoming mothers.
- ~ Solar panels donated by Suntech and solar batteries donated by Deka batteries were installed.

- ~ The U.S Embassy's Ambassador's Fund for HIV/AIDS Relief granted $25,000 to SEGA for on campus business development.
- ~ On October 10, 2010 (10/10/10), the school participated in a global day of Action organized by 350.org to combat global warming through planting 140 fruit trees on the Sega grounds.
- ~ The Sega School Graduation for the second class of Day students and for the Form 1 (Grade 8) Boarding students was held on December 4th.

It's all about the girls...

People regard me differently now that I go to school. They even ask me questions about my school because they would like to join where I am. They kind of respect me these days as they see I'm not just a person staying in the streets but that I'm going to school which is more beneficial.

” Lucy

In 2010, the Sega Girls School educated 58 formerly out-of-school, disadvantaged Tanzanian girls; one class of boarders, Form 1 (Grade 8) and a class of remedial day students. This year, 80% of the remedial class passed the national Standard VII tests, compared with 49% nationally. Places at the school are in high demand - over 80 girls applied to join the remedial class of 30 girls joining the school in 2011.

Solar power is good because we don't need money for TANESCO (electricity supplier). Now with the new panels (from Suntech) we can use computers and other things and we have no problems with electricity at night time. We also now have enough water because all our water is pumped by solar.

Jojina

The second classroom block, consisting of two classrooms, a store room and a computer room (to be furnished with 8 computers donated by 'Forgirlsake'), was constructed this year. The school is now able to accommodate 60 boarding students, 30 day students, a matron and head-mistress.

Solar panels, donated by Suntech Power Holdings Co., Ltd., along with solar batteries from Deka Batteries were installed, providing energy for all the school's needs, including a solar-powered pump for the well water. Two adjacent bandas serve as dining areas, and include a kitchen with a fuel efficient cooking facility.

"We are combining a challenging academic curriculum with a hands-on mentoring program and an array of extra-curricular activities and social interactions" says Salome Mkuchu, the school's headmistress.

The students spend time in the computer labs, are learning to swim, have lessons in leadership and life skills, hold debates, play netball, dance and play the recorder.

The annual field trip was to Bagamoyo on the coast, where the girls learnt about slavery and saw the sea for the first time!

“ At first we didn't know how to use computers, but now we know how to make and save files, play games, and write on the computer. In other schools even at form VI you don't know computer, but in ours we are learning early.

” Martha

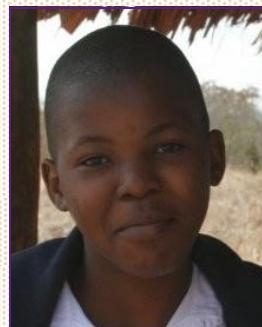

“ I like gardening because I like learning how to plant seeds and even how to weed and I know that this will help me when I have my own garden. I will not be spending money on buying vegetables. Instead I will have them on my own.

” Subira

"The gardening which we are doing at the school is very important in terms of building a spirit of self-reliance among the girls" (Blastus, Board Member of SEGA). The organic gardening supplies 50% of the school's vegetable and fruit needs.

“ Having many visitors helps us to learn English.

” Agnes

There were many visitors from the USA to the Sega Girls School in 2010, including board members, service learning volunteers and NM supporters. Long-term volunteer Sandra Bemelhans of Voluntary Service Overseas left in August and Fran Bruty arrived in her place. All of these visitors are enthusiastically welcomed by the students, who love to practice their English and learn about other cultures.

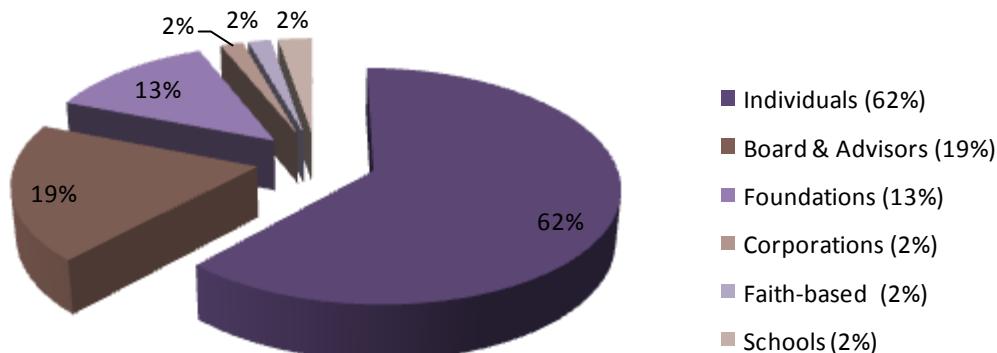

It's all about fundraising...

A HUGE thank you to 712 donors, who contributed over $432,600
to Nurturing Minds in 2010.

(this represents a 68% increase in donors from 2009)

Nurturing Minds' supporters have given over $432,600 this past year, including $81,071 from the board & advisors; $62,147 from foundations and faith-based organizations; and $262,400 from individuals and corporate matching contributors. As a volunteer-based organization with administrative expenses of 1.7%, NM relies on the dedication of its board members, advisors, volunteers and supporters to provide the necessary financial and technical support to expand The Sega Girls School, thereby reaching vulnerable girls.

Nurturing Minds Sources of Funds 2010

USAID/ASHA Grant

In October 2010, Nurturing Minds signed a grant agreement with the US Agency for International Development/American Schools and Hospitals Abroad (USAID/ASHA) which provides a 2:1 match on funds raised over the next year, up to $400,000.

This grant is seldom provided to organizations with an all-volunteer base such as Nurturing Minds. It is the expansive and consistent support from our donors and committed volunteers that convinced USAID that Nurturing Minds has what it takes to successfully implement a grant of this scale.

The funds will be used to build three dormitories, one classroom building, a staff house, and volunteer house in 2011, enabling us to accommodate up to 120 boarding students by 2012.

Student Sponsorship Program

The Sega School Student Sponsorship program is designed to provide donors with the opportunity of supporting the development of, and connecting with, an individual student while also participating in the school's progress. This program has been popular with Nurturing Minds' supporters and there are 57 sponsors to date - including clubs, groups, schools and friends who have teamed up to sponsor a Sega student.

Chris Hammarskjold is the student sponsorship coordinator and the liaison with sponsors of the first class of students. In 2010, Cindy Silvis joined us as the liaison with sponsors of the second class, and Mary Kathryn Fallon will join us as the liaison with sponsors of the third class in 2011.

Regional Chapters & Beyond

The Northeastern and Rocky Mountain Chapters continued to enthusiastically and energetically raise awareness and funds for Nurturing Minds through house parties, wine tasting, and events such as the African Music & Dance Party in MA, and the 2nd African Party in Colorado. The Fairfield Country Connecticut Chapter was formed in March, and held a well-attended Walk-a-thon.

Nurturing Minds supporters arranged presentations and fundraising events throughout the USA, including Pennsylvania, Florida, New York and Vermont.

Public Relations

- Board members represented Nurturing Minds at the Population Council Workshop, the UNICEF International Conference, the National Coalition for Girls Schools annual conference.
- Nurturing Minds has been featured in the press and media: XPN Philadelphia, Cooking Light magazine, Ridgewood News - Villagers help students in Tanzania.
- Members of the Nurturing Minds Board visited Washington, D.C., to meet with Witney Schneidman, African Affairs & Economic Development Consultant, who introduced us to Tanzanian Ambassador Maajar.

Looking Forward

Strategy and Goals for the Future

Nurturing Minds and SEGA plan to develop the Sega Girls School as a secondary school for 200 girls by 2015, adding infrastructure and pupils each year.

Key features of the school, which will influence hiring decisions and all aspects of school management, include:

- Selection of marginalized/vulnerable girls from surrounding targeted communities; during the selection process, recruitment of students will be clustered within geographic areas to encourage mutual support.
- An emphasis on providing a high quality education through Form VI, using participatory and experiential learning methods. The curriculum will include: leadership development, strengthening self-esteem, decision-making and life skills; civic responsibility and democratic processes in Tanzania; entrepreneurship and financial management for self-reliance; organic agriculture/food production and computer literacy.
- Eventual financial self-sufficiency through operation of on- and off-campus businesses, giving students the opportunity of participating in business management and the practice of entrepreneurship.
- Establishment of environmentally sustainable technologies such as use of solar and wind energy, and of bio-intensive/organic farming methods for food production.
